

Peruvian Note To Demand Chilean Troops Be Removed From Area of Plebiscite

Suggestions for Amplification of Safeguards About Tacna-Arica Election Being Drafted.

Washington, March 30.—Suggestions for amplification of safeguards provided under President Coolidge's demand to surround the Tacna-Arica plebiscite were being put into final shape tonight for presentation to the arbitrator through the state department.

The embassy statement was prompt ed by publication of assertions that Peru officially had notified the Washington government that terms of the award were unacceptable without drastic modification.

Refuses To See Press.

Ambassador Velarde declined interview in his embassy throughout the day, refusing to see press representatives who sought information as to the nature of the contemplated Peruvian communication.

In other quarters, it was stated positively, however, that the forthcoming memorandum would be drawn up in strictly diplomatic language and that the terms will be additional suggestions taken by the arbitrator to insure full and free expression of popular will in the plebiscite.

The major point to be made will be the suggestion that Chilean military garrisons and other armed forces in the provinces of Tacna and Arica be replaced by a national gendarmerie to maintain order before and during the plebiscite.

There would be no suggestion of a rejection by Peru of the terms of the award, it was insisted nor would the suggestions for additional safeguards be in the nature of demands.

Reports have reached the Lima government from Tacna and Arica to the effect that attempts have been made to terrorize Peruvian residents and drive them out of the regions before the plebiscite was held. These reports have not only been made publicly by the Peruvian embassy here, but were transmitted to the state department, which called them to the attention of the Chilean government.

Presumably, the department will transmit to the Lima government in the same way whatever reply the Chilean authorities may make. It appears certain, however, that Peruvian officials have been prompted to formulate suggestions for additional safeguards, including the native constabulary proposal, as to the strength of their reports as to conditions in Tacna and Arica since the award was announced.

It now seems doubtful that the Peruvian memorandum will go beyond discussion of these questions of safety. There is any interest taken to protect the rights of the people as to whether a plebiscite should have been called at all, no person in touch with Peruvian official circles would admit knowledge of such a proposal.

C. AND O. MAJORITY FAVERS MERGER

4 Bandits Secure $50,000 in Gems In Maiden Lane

Richmond, Va., March 30.—Majority stockholders have succeeded in ratifying the proposal to incorporate the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad into the $1,500,000,000 Nickel Plate system being built up by the Van Sweringen Brothers of Cleveland.

At a stockholder's meeting here Monday, the majority cast a vote of 500,000 shares, of the $85,000 shares outstanding in favor of the merger.

The minority voted 137,000 shares, leaving nearly 250,000 shares unrepresented.

Minority interests acknowledged defeat, but announced they intend to carry the fight to the Virginia courts, which must ratify the merger before it can take effect.

This was one of the few stockholders meetings thrown open to the public. Stockholders of the other four roads involved in the merger have already to enter, with a majority disagreeing and instituting court suits.

The two sensational youngsters of the railroad world, C. P. and O. J. Van Sweringen, who have developed the giant Nickel Plate merger, arrived here in a special car from Cleveland Monday evening. D. W. Barnes, former secretary of war, and a staff of other prominent Cleveland attorneys accompanied them.

The Chesapeake and Ohio is one of the oldest and most strategically important railroads in the United States. It is essentially a coal road, furnishing the only direct coal-carrying line between the New England Atlantic fleet is based at Hampton Roads, this road therefore becomes a vital artery in the national defense system, being the chief course of coal for the export fleet. The road is a tremendous coal-carrying line, net operating revenue of $2,000,000 last January. It is 2,600 miles long, with major terminals at Hampton Roads, Washington and Cincinnati.

Minority stockholders object to exchanging this profitable stock for merger stock. The Van Sweringens also acquire the Hocking Valley and the Miami, which is one of the major north and south coal roads of Ohio. Thus they will have a road which will link the Cleveland lake area with Hampton Roads—the location of the largest coaling station in the world.

Would Offer $100 Bonus To All Cabinet Officers For Refusing Dinner Bids

New York, March 30.—Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy, in a lecture here tonight said that it would be good for the rescue party sent out to search for the missing aviators, Captain R. A. Smith and Lieutenant E. P. Lott, commercial photographic flyers, who are believed to have been lost in the Everglades.

He said that an employee of President Coolidge's health under the strain of his office to the fact that he "never changed his pace."

CARTOONIST REPORTED IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Des Moines, Iowa, March 30.—A physician's bulletin early tonight said that the condition of J. N. Darling, the cartoonist, was "critical." Earlier in the day, a report said Mr. Darling suffered "such a relapse over the week end that recovery practically has been abandoned."

The artist, whose "I. N. Darin" cartoons are known throughout the world, was stricken with peritonitis March 12.

EIGHT MEN TRAPPED BY FLOOD IN MINE

New Castle, England, March 30.—Clutching a projecting ridge near the roof of the mine, eight miners were trapped by a flood in the Montague Colliery at Seaford, here, this afternoon two hundred men were in the pit when the rush of water occurred, but got away except eight.

One man who came out safely said the water was up to his neck when he escaped.

GAS IS CUT CENT AT LITTLE ROCK

Little Rock, March 30.—Local officials of the Standard Oil company of Louisiana announced tonight that the price of gasoline will be lowered one cent per gallon at all the filling stations in the beginning of business tomorrow morning. This will be the second drop of a cent within the past month and makes the retail price now 23 cents, including a 4-cent state tax.

"We have had no communication from the home office relating to any change in the prevailing gasoline market price, nor do we contemplate any such change within the immediate future," Robert E. Hodson, district manager of the Standard Oil company, of Louisiana, stated Monday.

Judge Fisher also declared Attorney James Connell, of the railway company, had been guilty of contempt in planning the fake suit but found a number of mitigating circumstances, including a record of 35 years of honorable law practice and his belief that he was doing his duty to the Chicago Bar association in the exposure.

2 SMALL CHILDREN IN GRADY HOSPITAL WITH SEVERE BURNS

Two children Monday night were in a critical condition at Grady hospital from burns received late Sunday.

One of the little victims, Carrie Boyes, 10 months old, of 316 Bellwood avenue, was scalded about the legs. The accident was said to have happened when a bucket of boiling water was turned over by children who were playing about a stove.

The other child, Horace McClure, 3 years old, of 405 Ormond street, was scalded about the chest, abdomen and thigh. Details of the accident were lacking at the hospital.

WHITAKER'S FATE IN JURY'S HANDS

DAMAGED OF $15,000 IS CAUSED BY FIRE

Eatonon, Ga., March 30.—A jury tonight is deliberating over the case of R. S. Whitaker, tried today on a charge of the murder of O. C. Harwood last April.

This is the second trial of the case. Whitaker was tried on the fourth day of the trial, when he was accused of having made the attack on Malabar Hill on January 12th.

Arguments were completed late today and the case was presented to the jury which adjourned to consider here this morning. The jury was chosen at the morning session and the taking of testimony was begun this afternoon.

The robbers were unmasks. It is believed they drove to the place in a closed automobile, timing their arrival with that of Tevel Kaleko, a member of the firm, who had just returned to the office with two wallets filled with precious stones taken in nearly safety vaults. Two customers were waiting. As Kaleko spoke to them he placed the wallets on a desk.

Just then the four robbers entered and ordered "hands up and not a word!" One of them grabbed the wallet of Kaleko. The other three bound and gagged Kaleko and his two customers, Frank Annakraut and Frank Wheeler and fled.

ST. LOUIS, MARCH 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Presentation of evidence, on which was based the plea for the impeachment of Federal Judge George Washington English, ended today. The accused judge presented himself as having been sent by the Indore inspector general of police.

The witness said that the man now one of the defendants, described the atmosphere while the inspector general had remained for the short time. The witness declared that he was promised a large sum of money to assist in recovering attacks of malice.

The congressional committee, which has spent a week hearing testimony of tyrannical and oppressive conduct of the judge while on the bench, and of alleged illegal handling of financial or bankruptcy cases, received in finally today the report of two departments of justice examiners who investigated C. B. Thomas, referee in bankruptcy under Judge English.

The report, publication of parts of which was left to the committee's later decision, it was set out by the examiners that an order dated June 7, 1919, virtually turned the powers of Judge English's court, so far as they related to bankruptcy, over to him.

"We think we will start with Judge English, our leading witness," counsel for the judge announced.

The jurist will be interrogated by his counsel, they stated, and will not "devote his time in the witness chair to a connected story in attempted repudiation of the various accusations which have been brought against him."

Faris English, one of the judge's sons, who was named as the pilot followed from bank to bank by bankruptcy funds, and who received three percent interest on such funds from one bank, will also be a witness, said the lawyer.

The defense probably will require only two days. The prosecution evidence required six.

OSBORNE C. WOOD TO REACH TAMPA SOME TIME TODAY

Tampa, Fla., March 30.—Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood is expected to set foot on United States soil here. The shipping agent Steamer West Chester, bringing freight from Spain with 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, according to a radio message from Captain G. L. Linde, master, received by the Tampa Inter-Ocean Steamship company, operator of the ship.

Ten newspapermen and photographers sailed from Tampa this morning aboard a yacht to meet young Wood after his 40-mile run. They are accompanied by a deputy customs officer. The newspapermen hope to take Lieutenant Wood ashore on their yacht.

After picking up a fortune in Wall street trading while in the Philippines, Wood is reported to have lost it at various European resorts and sailed from Cadiz with $2 cash.

Gossip in Hotel Lobbies

BY PAUL STEVENSON

Atlanta is a friendly city and her citizens are naturally cordial in their treatment of strangers, being wholly devoid of the suspicion and distrust Mrs. Margaret Josephine Blair, noted health expert, who is at the Biltmore hotel. Mrs. Blair will deliver two free lectures here under the auspices of The Constitution at the Howard theater at 10 o'clock Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

"This is my first visit to Atlanta for some time," she said. "I have never visited a city where more friendliness and courtesy is shown strangers," she said. "Workers at the railroad stations, hotel employees, citizens met casually in lobbies on the street, and people seem willing to go out of their way to do something for the stranger."

Mrs. Blair said she expects to find the typical southern woman during her Atlanta visit.

"In Florida I found many mighty nice people but they are largely like northern people," she said. Mrs. Blair explained. "The typical southern woman, representing all the traditions of the south, will come from the heart of the south, and I am sure I shall find many of them in this charming city."

Mrs. Blair has recently appeared in Brunswick, Tallahassee and St. Petersburg. Florida, where she gave a series of lectures on her theories. She is 63 years old and a grandmother, but she does not look the part due to the good health she enjoys through following the system of exercises she has perfected.

Ready For Tourists.

Brunswick has enjoyed a big winter tourist season and expects around that city are now preparing for a big summer season, according to Jack Gardner, proprietor of the Hotel Oglethorpe in Brunswick and president of the Georgia Hotel Men's Association, who is at the Ansley.

"The season at St. Simons island should be better than ever before," Mr. Gardner said. "The new causeway now links up the island with the city of Brunswick, and the train can be made in less than 15 minutes. It used to take more than a hour to get to the island by boat."

Mr. Gardner was the guest of Holland Judkins, manager of the Biltmore, at a luncheon at that hotel.

Asks Road Bond Action.

"We are expecting a big crowd to attend the meeting in the interest of bonds for paved roads in Georgia which will be held at 10 o'clock, Tuesday morning, at the roof garden of the Ansley hotel," said C. C. Thomas, secretary-manager of the Griffin-Spalding county board of trade, who is here completing arrangements for the session.

"If the Georgia general assembly does not pass some kind of a bill making provision for a bond issue at the session this summer it will be 1929 before we can do anything big in this line," Mr. Thomas continued.

"We will be holding a session in 1926. If the legislature should fail to pass such a bill this year and pass it at its session in 1927 the people cannot vote on a constitutional amendment that year. Constitutional amendments can only be submitted in elections, and governors and other state house officers are to be elected.

By the time the bonds are validated and sold it will be 1929 before any results can be achieved. So we must have action this summer or this great improvement project in which all of us are vitally interested will be postponed at least four years."

DAMAGED OF $15,000 IS CAUSED BY FIRE

Bombay, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Further details of the attempted kidnapping of the Indian nautch girl, the Maharaja of Indore, were revealed during the fourth day of the trial of the men accused of having made the attack on Malabar Hill on January 12th.

Munataz was rescued by four British army officers who, armed with golf clubs, beat off the assaultants. When the gang, dressed in the explosion of a gas stove. Flames spread rapidly before the arrival of the fire department and sparks, carried by the wind, set fire to the Nautch home.

Call officers Johnson and Cartwright were told that the Goodwin home became ignited from the explosion of a gas stove. Flames spread rapidly before the arrival of the fire department and sparks, carried by the wind, set fire to the Nautch home.

Today an uncle of one of the accused, a shop keeper in Ahmedabad, testified that one of the defendants had come to him earlier to tell him he had been accused of kidnapping the girl. The witness stated that the man represented himself as having been sent by the Indore inspector general of police.

The witness said that the man now one of the defendants, described the atmosphere while the inspector general had remained for the short time. The witness stated that he was promised a large sum of money to assist in recovering attacks of malice.

For nearly half a century Mr. Morgan was connected with the Raleigh railroad system and was connected with the local hospital for the past ten years. He was admitted to the hospital on January 12th, 1924, with a severe attack of appendicitis. The doctor who operated on him, Dr. Hugh Morson, 75, yesterday committed suicide by slashing his throat at the State Hospital for the Insane.

Americans Are Still Falling For Get-Rich-Quick Schemes Despite Government Efforts

Oil Swindles Take Back-seat for Good Luck Rings and "Cure-All" Gags of Days of Old.

By THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, March 30.—The American people are falling just as often as ever for get-rich-quick schemes. Despite the campaign of education which has been carried on recently through various agencies, including the postoffice department, the 253 postal investigators still find plenty to do.

There is an exception in the case of fake oil schemes, which gives some reason for hope. Since the round-up at Fort Worth, Texas, where there were 92 indictments for oil swindlers, the investor apparently has gone on guard, after a lesson which cost 2,000,000 people about $14,000,000 in the short space of five years. Oil promoters whose sole claim was the possession of a well-known name, such as Dr. Frederick Cook, who failed to discover the north pole or General Robert A. Lee, no longer dare to pass off their "Spanish mining" scheme as old.

They live here!

Old Gags Work Best.

But there are many other swindles which are costing people money right along as the docket of fraud orders in the postoffice department here show. These range from good luck rings to gold mine stocks. Curiously, one of the most popular swindles is the old "2-22," which still works. The once "Spanish mining" scheme was recently revived with some success.

The modern trend might have been expected to result in fake schemes connected with radio or psychological phenomena, but this is not true of today. The nearest approach to a psychological faker is the company which advertised and sold a book entitled "The Art of Controlling Woman," which might have its Freudian implications.

The most satiation of primal instincts—the desire to get something for nothing, the faith in "cures" for humanity's ills, the ambition to become famous, or the more practical wish of the housewife to make a little money in her spare time that furnishes the basis for the faker's appeal.

Housewives Swindled.

Thousands of housewives have been swindled in schemes offering work at home. One organization engaged in this fraud promised extravagant financial returns to women who would purchase franchises, sell them and do extensive work at home. The customer was compelled to pay $3 for five designs, and 25 cents for each plan of paint. The concern promised to pay $6.25 for each design produced by it. It was discovered, however, that very few designs were found and to make up the difference deducted the mounting profits from the sale of designs.

The head of this concern made over $160,000 clear profit before the postoffice department stopped the swindler, but his organization continues. He started another scheme to entice housewives to home, selling the outfit in this case for $7.50, and cleared over $75,000 on this swindle.

The postoffice inspector who investigated this case said the swindler had tried to distract public attention,声明 it so difficult that no one would be able to do it, and then started his profitable venture.

"Cure-Alls" in Vogue.

Cures of all kinds are still sold, covering all the diseases to which man is heir, down to the diseases of chickens. An old colored man down in Mississippi, known as "Prince Hough," a "voodoo" doctor, claimed to diagnose any disease by examining the excretion transmitted on a piece of white paper, and then to send the proper cure.

With fabulous fortunes being made in moving pictures and song writing, frauds to satisfy the appetites of the public are becoming more common. Courses of photography, writing, and other courses in photoplay writing have been stopped when they were found to be fraudulent. The organizer of one of these, purporting to know all about the business, boasted that he had sold $100,000 worth of courses. He had worked for a few months as a stenographer in the business, it developed. One organizer of a song writing company made $16,000 before his swindle was stopped.

Astrological readings and "good luck" rings are still sold right and left in the gullible. Several concerns engaged in this business have recently been halted in New York.

2 CONVENTIONS OPEN AT COLUMBUS TONIGHT

Columbus, Ga., March 30.—Two conventions open here tomorrow night when the Georgia Daughters of the American Revolution and the Southeastern Optometrists begin their annual sessions.

Approximately 150 delegates are expected to attend the Georgia conference of the D. A. R., while 400 probably will attend the congress of the southeastern division of the American Optometric association.

Tomorrow morning delegates to both conventions will witness a big firing demonstration at Fort Benning, and in the afternoon they will see the Washington Senators and New York Giants' baseball game at the fort.

PROGRAM ON RADIO HEARD DISTINCTLY AT BUENOS AIRES

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 30.—South America's "request program," broadcast tonight from station KDKA, Pittsburgh, Pa., was a complete success. Telegrams sent here from the editor of La Nacion, Buenos Aires, advised full hearing of the program in that city.

The program was arranged to demonstrate the practicability of sending a program of music, songs and speeches from Pittsburgh to the southern part of South America. La Nacion reported the music was speaking too modulated, as the volume of sound at first was too great.

KELLOGG DISCUSSES ARMS TRAFFIC PARLEY

HEADACHE BETTER AFTER HE SNEEZES DRILL FROM NOSE

Philadelphia, March 30.—Secretary Kellogg conferred today with Secretaries Weeks, Wilbur and Hoover in preparation for the forthcoming international conference in Geneva on traffic in arms in which the United States government will be represented.

The cabinet members met in Mr. Kellogg's office for the initial discussion of the attitude to be taken by the American delegation to the conference.

The conference will be held May 4 at Geneva under auspices of the League of Nations, which is the creation of the League of Nations. The point of the drill had broken. The wounded heard and for two years gave him a painful headache. Then the headaches stopped.

The group was received today by President Coolidge, who is a member of the First Congregational church here, and Secretary Wilbur, who is a deacon, spoke at a luncheon afterwards, declaring that Christianity and communism were coupled as guarantees of peace.

A committee was named to confer with Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church, on campaign plans.

NEW YORK PREACHERS URGE BIRTH CONTROL

Philadelphia, March 30.—Suffering from a perpetual headache and approaching blindness, the cause of which physicians were unable to determine, Harry M. Hutchinson, an electrician here, sneezed from his nasal tubes an inch and a half piece of a quarter-inch steel drill with which he had been working.

Hutchinson said he had been stabbled through the bridge of the nose with a steel drill during a fight with a fellow workman but did not know the point of the drill had broken. The wounded heard and for two years gave him a painful headache. Then the headaches stopped.

The meeting today was held in preparation for the appointment, by the president, of the American delegation after a series of informal inquiries had been made at various embassies by the state department, to learn what other countries expected to discuss at the conference.

The conference will be held May 4 at Geneva under auspices of the League of Nations, which is the creation of the League of Nations.

The group was received today by President Coolidge, who is a member of the First Congregational church here, and Secretary Wilbur, who is a deacon, spoke at a luncheon afterwards, declaring that Christianity and communism were coupled as guarantees of peace.

basic truth that it is natural for nature to improve upon herself.

"Nature, through man, who is a part of nature, is constantly improving. Clothes are unnatural, and some uses of them immoral, but there is no law against clothes. Marriage itself is unnatural. Biologically, we haven't yet really got used to it, and some of the things which marriage is good for are highly immoral, but marriage, itself, is not an immoral institution. Monogamy, the having of one wife only, was considered unnatural as late as the time of the Bible Patriarchs."

The birth control movement, Dr. Potter, whose address before the international Birth Control conference elicited a discussion of social problems, led to the adoption of the slogan, "Birth control is the key to world regulation on the ground that it is unnatural and immoral."

"Those who advance this argument," he declared, "neglect the very every child that is born into the world," he said, "together with the lowering of the death rate with the advancing of science, means that more and more imbeciles are being saved to become a burden upon civilization. It is clearly the duty of Christianity, then, to prevent the conception of these unfit, so that humanity of the future will not be so tremendously burdened."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, also came out strongly in favor of birth regulation as a doctrine of churches and synagogues.

"If the churches and synagogues do not support the modern movement for the betterment of the faith," he stated, "so much the worse for the churches and synagogues."

Among the others who spoke Monday on the control movement were Rev. Nelson Junius Springer, Rev. Dr. A. Ray Pettie, Professor Harry Elmer Barnes, Dr. C. C. Little, Rev. Frank S. C. Wicks and Dr. William H. Garth.

WADSWORTH, DUMONT INSPECT FORT BENNING

Fort Benning, Ga., March 30.—Senator James W. Wadsworth, senior senator from New York, and Mrs. Wadsworth, General George A. L. Dumont, military attaché of the French embassy at Washington, and the general's aide today inspected the United States infantry school at Fort Benning.

Senator and Mrs. Wadsworth arrived last night from New Orleans. Almost simultaneously General Dumont and his aide reached the post.

This is the first visit of the quartet to the greatest school for infantry officers in the country.

Guides were furnished the guests this morning and in two parties they inspected the institution and toured the reservation of some 95,000 acres.

A demonstration of a battalion attack, one of the problems for the officers and students, was conducted as was staged for the distinguished visitors tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The optometrists of the southeast who are to be in convention at Columbus, near here, will also attend the demonstration. Live ammunition will be used. Senator Wadsworth and his wife are the guests of Brigadier General Bryant H. Wells, commandant of the post while General Dumont is the house guest of Colonel William S. Helms, executive officer of the post.

MEXICAN WORSHIPPERS CLASH WITH SOLDIERS

Mexico City, March 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Two officers and four privates were wounded and 66 men, 10 women and 1 Spanish priest were arrested, the result of a clash between federal soldiers and worshippers on Sunday outside the church of San Marcos in Acapulco.

The worshippers who some time ago had been guarding the church building in Acapulco are declared in reports from that town to have opened fire upon the soldiers as the latter approached the church on patrol duty, the guardians of the edifice believing the troops intended to take over the building for the purpose of establishing a branch of the recently created Mexican Apostolic church. It is believed several of the worshippers were wounded, but are remaining in hiding for fear of arrest.

President Calles has ordered the military commandant at Acapulco to take energetic action for the suppression of disorders.

URGES READING OF SCRIPTURES IN ALL SCHOOLS

Chicago, March 30.—By the Associated Press.—"The Bible should be given a first look in every public school instead of being the only book banned from our public schools," Henry Hooper Van Meter, of the Bible league, declared in an address today before the Michigan Alumni association of Chicago.

The Bible should be read at the opening of the public school on every school day, Dr. Van Meter asserted. "Bible reading in public schools is an American custom, sanctioned by the practical construction of all American courts for more than two centuries," continued the speaker, "but teaching of sectarian tenets, by Jews or Gentiles, Presbyterians or Charchists, is not an essential or necessary, only as found in the Bible or contrary to all American custom and dangerous to national unity."

Massachusetts, New York City, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maine and Delaware have adopted statutes requiring public schools to teach the same or similar measures as now being taught in Ohio, Iowa, Washington and other state legislatures requiring Bible reading "without comment," in their public schools.

METHODISTS TO MEET AT WINCHESTER, 1926

Washington, March 30.—The Baltimore annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church south, voted today to meet next year at Winchester, Va.

The appointment tonight of ministers to pulpits of the conference comprising Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia, was broadcast by radio for the first time. Dr. E. V. Register, presiding elder of the Washington district, made the announcement over the microphone as each assignment was made.

Indications were that the unification question would be taken up for review by the college of bishops at Asheville in May, despite a ruling by Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, president of the conference, on an appeal from a vote, which by proposal of unification that the church was one of parliamentary procedure, and not one for church law to decide.

Fleet Aeroplanes Regarded As Indispensable Equipment For Modern Battleships

Auxiliary Carrier Ships for Planes Rapidly Being Built by All Navies of Big Powers.

BY WILL IRWIN.

"The battleship is still lord of the waters," says the general board of our navy.

"The battleship is passing," says Rear Admiral Sims, retired.

"The battleship is already a back number," says General Mitchell, of the air service.

And there you are—the experts disagreeing on a question which must decide exactly what will be the place of battle. Even before the great war, naval men were debating this issue; a faction questioned whether the submarine, imperfect as it was in those days, could not master any surface vessel.

Battleship Survived War.

The war seems to prove that the battleship remained monarch of the seas; comparatively speaking, the submarine was powerless against her. Still, the radicals submit, undersea craft did not have a fair showing at the battle of Jutland, the one square, stand-up naval fight of the war. Germany was using her submarines as commerce-destroyers. Had she manned them against the British fleet in this action, no one knows what might have happened.

The lessons of Jutland were no sooner digested than the navies paid tribute to the assassin of the sea depths by reinforcing the hulls of their capital ships with special water-tight compartments and blisters. Toward the end of the war, the Germans carried undersea construction one stride further with their "submarine cruisers." British constructors, since the war, have gone further still. Their latest submarine have a non-going range of 6,000 miles, possible surface speed, and eight-inch guns.

Victims on Commerce.

In one feature, perhaps more important than fleet action, the submarine proved its usefulness to the new warfare. It was altogether the most vicious commerce destroyer known to history. The Germans never kept in action at any time more than 50 commerce-destroying submarines, and these of a type now considered archaic.

Yet in the spring of 1917, they all but starved out the British Isles. So far as concerned us on merchantmen, they had the British and French navies, somewhat reinforced by Italian and Japanese units, thoroughly beaten. Only the arrival of the Americans and the adoption of the convoy system tipped the scale. Even at that, the sinkings went on, a handspan and a deadly menace.

Von Tirpitz a Prophet.

Admiral Von Tirpitz came out of the war a Cassandra with a double twist. His government listened to him when he advocated a policy which would bring the United States into the struggle—and thereby lose the war. But they listened when he cried, "Submarines, submarines, and yet more submarines!" they might have won the war.

Now comes a new peril to the battleship. Attacked from the surface of the seas and under the seas, it is attacked from the air. Bombing planes have increased in range, bombing devices are becoming more destructive. Test in Great Britain and the United States have proved that the airplane, even if it has not rendered the battleship obsolete, can complicate the task of a commander-in-chief. Regarding the extent of the menace, there is a wide difference of opinion. I will reserve consideration of that complicated question for another installment.

Funeral services for Mrs. W. C. Hopkins, who died Sunday at her home near Union City, were held Monday from the Ramah Baptist church in Palmetto, Rev. M. D. Collins and Rev. J. H. Gresham officiating. Interment was in the churchyard.

She is survived by her husband; four daughters, Mrs. G. N. Dickson, Mrs. R. E. Russell and Miss Bell Hopkins, of Union City, and Mrs. Howard Summers, of East Point; three sons, G. T. Hopkins, of LaGrange, Ga.; W. R. Hopkins, of Atlanta, and J. E. Hopkins, of College Park; twenty grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

RESINOL

$272,000 HIGHWAY WARRANT IS SIGNED

After Governor Walker had forwarded to him a letter from H. G. Spahr, treasurer of the state highway department, giving reasons for the unusual financial needs of that department at the present time, Comptroller General William A. Wright Monday signed a warrant for $272,000. Gen. Wright had held up the warrant a week, because of previous warrants, amounting to $545,000, which the highway department had received only four days previously. He did not question the legality of the latest warrant, but merely asked why the department should receive time after time such large amounts.

Mr. Spahr, in his letter, explained that expenses of the department this year had been unusually heavy because of damage caused in south Georgia by the disastrous floods of the early spring. In addition to this emergency, which necessitated a large expenditure, and caused a general strain on the department's resources, more than $200,000 has been spent for surface vessels.

BIDS FOR POWER AT SHOALS ASKED

Washington, March 30.—Bids for the purchase of hydro-electric power developed by the Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala., will be invited by Secretary Weeks.

Estimates given the war secretary by many army engineers reveal that the Wilson dam will begin development about July 1 of 100,000 horsepower daily.

The decision to sell the power was made because of the failure of congress to dispose of the Muscle Shoals development through legislation covering that phase of the Alabama project.

In the present situation, it was said, the most practical solution of the power question was to make the Wilson dam available to power users pending final determination of the question by congress. This plan has been contemplated by army officers with a view of starting power developments at the dam without delay and at the same time provide a market for the product.

It is the intention of Secretary Weeks to enter into contracts renewable by the government on 30 days notice with power companies who offer the government the best return on its investment.

Army engineers do not expect to secure high rates for the power to be sold since the purchasers are required to honor their contracts on brief time periods and cannot themselves enter into long-time contracts with consumers.

It is pointed out also that the companies interested in power distribution will probably be faced with heavy expenditures in the construction of transmission lines over which the power can be carried from Muscle Shoals to the consumers in the states adjoining.

Army engineers recognize also that the power companies may hesitate to construct at their own expense these transmission lines because of the brief interval during which the power may be available to them under the terms of the contracts contemplated.

THIRD DEATH RESULTS FROM NORFOLK FIRE

Blow Postoffice Safe.

Bristol, Va., March 30.—Postoffice identified himself as a woman, founded Harrow in 1751. Some of the buildings that cluster around the tall spire of Harrow church date from 1608. The newest of the lot was built in 1877, and it was down such drain pipes as sluice the water from the roofs of these venerable piles that the careless schoolboys, their sport frolics flying in the wind, and their footfalls and noise behind as useless baggage, clambered to dip into the fleshpots of London.

These modern Harrows are daring youths. Lord Byron, who was something of a rebellious soul, was graduated by Harrow and it never has been related of him that he shamed his parents.

Atwater admitted he had dropped out of range of the safe looter's gun as he poured his lead at Skelly. Atwater then left.

Chapman retained his cool demeanor throughout this hearing, in which the witness had given a slightly different account of the story of the shooting.

He said his first testimony was wrong. He told his superior, Sergeant McCue, he said, that he had identified another man as the murderer several days after this.

Chapman did not know that to get rid of him, he said.

Atwater admitted he had not contradicted his policeman at a New Britain court hearing a few days after the shooting, when they said that Skelly had identified Walter Shean as the man who had shot him. Shean, of Springfield, Mass., arrested near the scene of the crime, was the first man to tell the police Chapman was Skelly's murderer.

Grochel read from Atwater's testimony at this hearing, in which the witness had given a slightly different account of the story of the shooting.

"That's right," replied Atwater.

It is stated by competent surveyors of crimes of this nature that at no period in the history of this country has there been such a record of peculations as since the beginning of post-war reconstruction and business readjustments.

Though business and industrial conditions have become almost normal the situation as to money crimes not only has not improved but obviously is getting worse.

There is but one explanation—living beyond the income.

The "Joy ride" began just after the war, when money flowed plentifully, and the reaction from the strain and stress of that period culminated in an unheard-of human recklessness and abandon, has been continued, and is being continued.

It is a period of jazz, of wild extravagances in personal expenses—and extravagances that are too often met by thievery.

There are men in Atlanta today, and in every city, who are driving automobiles and indulging in other luxuries that cost them more than their salary for a year. Expenses pile up; debts pile up. Sometimes in a fit of despondency a pistol shot stops the worry. More often they begin to steal from their employers.

It is not confined to men, young or old. Many women who cannot afford it are wearing silk hosties. They spurn the cheaper cotton goods. Many are dressing beyond their means. They must have costly raiment and indulge in luxuries that a moderate salary cannot possibly meet.

The public seldom hears of these cases, but there is scarcely a business concern of any magnitude that does not encounter such cases every week in its own affairs.

There must be a slowing down—a restraining force somehow and somewhere.

Thousands of young people who are stealing today in one way or another, perhaps of a petty nature, most of them, are not instinctively crooks. At heart they are honest. But the jazz life they fall into demands money. They take the chances rather than slow down to the old-time conservatism of the fathers. They prefer to steal rather than to sacrifice and economize.

But there is no way to make it pay—no way to "put it over."

Sooner or later the employee who takes that which does not belong to him—however small or however great—will be caught in a dishonesty. Then comes disgrace and usually ruin. The "Joy ride" for that individual comes to an end, and his or her future becomes bleak.

The "Joy ride" doesn't pay. It invariably ends in disaster.

ALMOST A SCANDAL.

The determination of Secretary Weeks to ask for bids from southern power companies for the 10,000 daily horsepower that will be available at Muscle Shoals through the completion of the Wilson dam on July 1 accentuates the shortsighted policy of the 65th congress.

The adjutant general, therefore, is a summarized analysis of the rejections in the various areas for the purpose of bettering conditions among the applicants for the future camps.

The total number of candidates selected or subsequently discharged for defective physical conditions to all corps areas in 1924 was 803, or 29 per cent of all applicants. And of those total rejections—and here is the fact we desire to stress—33.87 per cent occurred in the fourth corps area.

The total number of rejections were divided among the corps areas as follows:

CORPS      Number      Total Rejections

First      20      21

Second      20      21

Third      272      287

Fourth      75      87

Fifth      70      75

Sixth      60      62

Seventh      50      52

Eighth      50      52

Ninth      72      89

Tenth      803      100

This is startling even if not alarming. When we consider that more than one-third of the rejections throughout the nine corps areas of the United States came from the one corps in which Georgia is located, it is not surprising to any especial enthusiasm over predominating physical fitness of our young civilians.

Upon an analysis of the causes it is found that defective vision leads with 18.07 per cent of the total of defectives. Flat feet constitute 13.24 per cent. And the other mandatory causes run the gamut, but to a lesser average than the same general causes in the other areas.

Defective vision is usually traceable to some other organic defect, or perhaps a chronic trouble of a debilitating nature. Prolonged and recurring malaria can cause defective vision, etc.

The point is, these figures ought to stimulate a deeper interest in the maintenance of as high a degree of physical fitness as is humanly possible.

The greatest asset a person has is human energy. The most important thing in building the material welfare of an individual, or a community or state, is the conservation of manpower. Millions of dollars are lost to the earning power of Georgians yearly by preventable diseases.

This report from the adjutant general, as disconcerting as it is, ought to serve a good purpose in turning our thoughts to the correction of a most serious tendency.

THE ROAD TO RUIN.

In Macon "a model young man" who was head bookkeeper for a bank disappeared, and an audit of his books showed a shortage of $8,000. He lived at the Y. M. C. A., took an active interest in church work, and held the esteem and complete confidence of his employers. He drove away in a new automobile that he had purchased.

This particular case reached the public through the newspapers, because the bank promptly made the facts known.

There are scores of Just such cases, however, occurring every week, in Georgia and in other states of the Union, that do not reach the public for the reason that the employers for business purposes or to save further embarrassment to innocent members of the families, do not let the facts become public.

It is stated by competent surveyors of crimes of this nature that at no period in the history of this country has there been such a record of peculations as since the beginning of post-war reconstruction and business readjustments.

Though business and industrial conditions have become almost normal the situation as to money crimes not only has not improved but obviously is getting worse.

There is but one explanation—living beyond the income.

The "Joy ride" began just after the war, when money flowed plentifully, and the reaction from the strain and stress of that period culminated in an unheard-of human recklessness and abandon, has been continued, and is being continued.

It is a period of jazz, of wild extravagances in personal expenses—and extravagances that are too often met by thievery.

There are men in Atlanta today, and in every city, who are driving automobiles and indulging in other luxuries that cost them more than their salary for a year. Expenses pile up; debts pile up. Sometimes in a fit of despondency a pistol shot stops the worry. More often they begin to steal from their employers.

It is not confined to men, young or old. Many women who cannot afford it are wearing silk hosties. They spurn the cheaper cotton goods. Many are dressing beyond their means. They must have costly raiment and indulge in luxuries that a moderate salary cannot possibly meet.

Thousands of young people who are stealing today in one way or another, perhaps of a petty nature, most of them, are not instinctively crooks. At heart they are honest. But the jazz life they fall into demands money. They take the chances rather than slow down to the old-time conservatism of the fathers. They prefer to steal rather than to sacrifice and economize.

But there is no way to make it pay—no way to "put it over."

Sooner or later the employee who takes that which does not belong to him—however small or however great—will be caught in a dishonesty. Then comes disgrace and usually ruin. The "Joy ride" for that individual comes to an end, and his or her future becomes bleak.

The "Joy ride" doesn't pay. It invariably ends in disaster.

STARTLING FIGURES.

The report of the adjutant general of the United States army on the physical status of the candidates for the civilian military training camps, held in the nine corps areas of the United States in the summer of 1924, develops a situation regarding those from the fourth corps area, which is that of the southeast, that, while not necessarily alarming, ought to serve a good purpose in accentuating the necessity for greater attention to health conservation in these states.

It must be understood that those who apply for admission to these civilian camps are supposed to constitute the flower of the young manhood of their respective areas. Each applicant, before being ordered to report as candidates at the camps, must undergo an examination as to physical fitness. Such preliminary examinations, of course, are general, and do not enter into the mandatory physical disqualifications that are imposed under the strict military regulations which are the same for the regular army service.

The minute examinations are thus made at each camp by regular army surgeons. The report of the adjutant general, therefore, is a summarized analysis of the rejections in the various areas for the purpose of bettering conditions among the applicants for the future camps.

ALMOST A SCANDAL.

The determination of Secretary Weeks to ask for bids from southern power companies for the 10,000 daily horsepower that will be available at Muscle Shoals through the completion of the Wilson dam on July 1 accentuates the shortsighted policy of the 65th congress.

BRENTANO TO QUIT POST AT BUDAPEST

Washington, March 30.—The resignation of Theodore Brentano, as American minister at Budapest, Hungary, has been received by President Coolidge.

What decision has been announced there is reason to believe that the resignation was accepted.

In the case of Albert H. Washburn, minister to Austria, whose resignation also has been laid before the president, the state department is understood to have recommended that he be retained at his present post.

J. Butler Wright, assistant secretary of state, who was suggested as a successor to Washburn when his resignation first came in, now is regarded as a likely choice to succeed Mr. Brentano at Budapest.

The resignation of the ministers at Budapest and Vienna were submitted in accordance with the practice under which political appointees in the foreign service customarily offer to resign the expiration of a presidential term.

Mr. Brentano, who was appointed by President Harding in 1922, is a former judge in Cook county, Illinois.

The department's recommendations in the case of Mr. Washburn are said to have been made after foreign service officials had advised Secretary Kellogg that the minister's record in Vienna had been highly satisfactory.

BEN HILL BUILDS MODERN HOMES FOR PLANTERS

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 30.—(Special)—One hundred model farm homes is the goal set for Ben Hill county for 1925 at recent meeting of the leading land owners of the county, at which L. L. Gruber, representative for Ben Hill county, presided.

Model farms for tobacco growers are to be surveyed and completely furnished for the large influx of Carolinians and Virginians who are preparing to come to South Georgia this summer. A uniform program for the extension of tobacco culture, live stock and dairy cattle, and intensive campaign for an enlarged cotton crop was adopted.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.
External treatments seldom cure piles.
Nor do surgical operations.
The cause is usually internal circulation.
The veins are weak, the veins tingle.
The bowel walls are weak, the parts at most dead.
To quickly and safely end yourself of piles you must free the circulation, send a fresh current through the stagnated pools.
Internal treatment is the one safe method.
Quinine and other drugs have been used,
J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy. He found it in the famous undergarment, "It is a painless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug Store, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer today."

Eye Strain? This Helps

For strained eyes try simple compound laudanum, witch hazel, etc., as small bottle helps any eye weak, strained or sore eyes. It will surprise

you. Aluminum eye cup free, Jacobs'

ROME-TO-ATLANTA ROAD VIA DALLAS PLANNED AT MEET

Dallas, Ga., March 30.—(Special).—A highway from Rome to Atlanta via Dallas is the object of organized efforts of representatives of the chambers of commerce of Rome, Cedartown and Dallas. A meeting of the representatives of these organizations was held here last Friday.

T. E. McBride, of Rockmart, was elected president; W. E. Byrd, of Dallas, vice president; and C. B. McGarry, of Dallas, secretary.

A committee with representatives from Floyd, Polk, Paulding and Chattooga counties, composed of H. P. Fambach, G. C. Bunker, J. K. Daniel, John M. Graham, S. Daniel and Julian Rose, from Floyd; Charles Caperton, J. D. Taylor and W. E. Croker, Bob Lee and W. E. Byrd, from Paulding, was appointed to present this plan to the state highway board.

Enthusiastic addresses were made by Dr. McBride, of Rockmart; Moses Wright and John M. Graham, from Rome; Homer Watkins, from Cedartown; C. B. McGarry and B. E. Croker, of Dallas.

Dinner was served by the woman's club at the club house.

LANIER WILL PUSH NEW ROAD PROJECTS

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 30.—(Special)—Rexon Henderson, J. J. Knight and Mayor Miller, of Milltown, Lanier county, are making plans for the completion of state route No. 11, which connects the central Dixie highway with the western Dixie at Jasper, Fla., and which is now being put in good condition by the Georgia highway department.

It is claimed that this route cuts the distance between Macon and the central part of Florida by more than 50 miles, via Perry, Hawkinsville, Dalton, Calhoun, Dahlonega, Roswell, City, Milltown, Statenville and Jasper, Fla., where it connects with the paved route from Tallahassee to Jacksonville.

Road boosters of Irwin, Berrien, Lanier, Echols and Clinch counties will be entertained at an early date with a fish fry at the encampment of the Georgia highway department, and the highway highway passes in Lanier county. Officials of the central Dixie highway will cooperate with the promoters in securing cooperation of towns along the entire route. Members of the state highway department will be invited to attend this meeting, and invitations will be extended to the Florida road officials.

CONCLUSIONS VARY ON GERMAN BALLOT

the conviction that his removal from the ministry of defense would precipitate a heated preliminary fight for a successor in that post, which he asserted, should be held by a democrat.

The other reason urged in favor of the elimination of Dr. James is supplied in the attitude of the Catholic Bavarian people party, which notified his campaign committee that it would not support him in the coming election, because he is espoused openly by the evangelical league.

The socialists believe they are morally vindicated by Sunday's vote for their action in nominating Otto Braun, but are prepared now to accept the verdict of the Dr. James' official enemies to eliminate party considerations from the newly created situation and are ready to join both liberal parties in an effort to galvanize the national republican front.

FEAR TRIPLE ALLIANCE.
It is this triple alliance that national conservative leaders fear, and that has given stimulus to the suggestion that the government cannot afford to let Dr. James be groomed for the final race. Thus far, ex-Chancellor Marx is the only prospective candidate named in connection with the creation of the three-party pool by socialists, centrists and democrats. Socialist leaders assume that the party分歧 will be so great that it will be difficult to nominate a single candidate.

Dartmouth Defeats Petrels In Tenth Inning

Locals Get
Eight
Hits

How Architects Picture Grant Field 'U' for Next November

BY B. H. VINCENT

The Petrels and Dartmouth battled for ten innings in their opening game yesterday before the Big Green finally nosed out the Stormy Birds for a 4-to-3 victory. This was the second successive game in which the Petrels have been defeated in the extra inning, having been nosed out in this inning by the Ohio State nine in their final contest last week.

Louis Edwards was on the mound for the Petrels and pitched a very creditable brand of ball, allowing the Green only five scattered hits during the afternoon. With the exception of the tenth inning, the Dartmouth nine was never able to collect more than one hit off his delivery in one inning. It was in this inning that the Green nine, who had given up a run in the game, lost it. Brookman and Stanley giving them, the winning run in this frame.

Ross Kemp drove out three of the Petrels nine safeties, while Captain Brookman led the attack for the Green with two safe hits. He also scored the winning run for the Green. Duke Terrell, who had pitched each of the four runs with triplets during the afternoon, with the former resulting in 4-to-3 Petrels' first tally when the Green's first baseman let the throw in gel away from him.

Three Hurters Used.

Cowenford started on the mound for the Green, and held the Petrels to four hits during the first four innings, but was taken out in the seventh after the Petrels had touched him for three safeties in the sixth and seven in the ninth. Dutch Terrell and Eddie Hess had six hits apiece, while the Petrels' last man, the kid was wild and gave way to Dapins after one inning, with the Green holding a two-run lead.

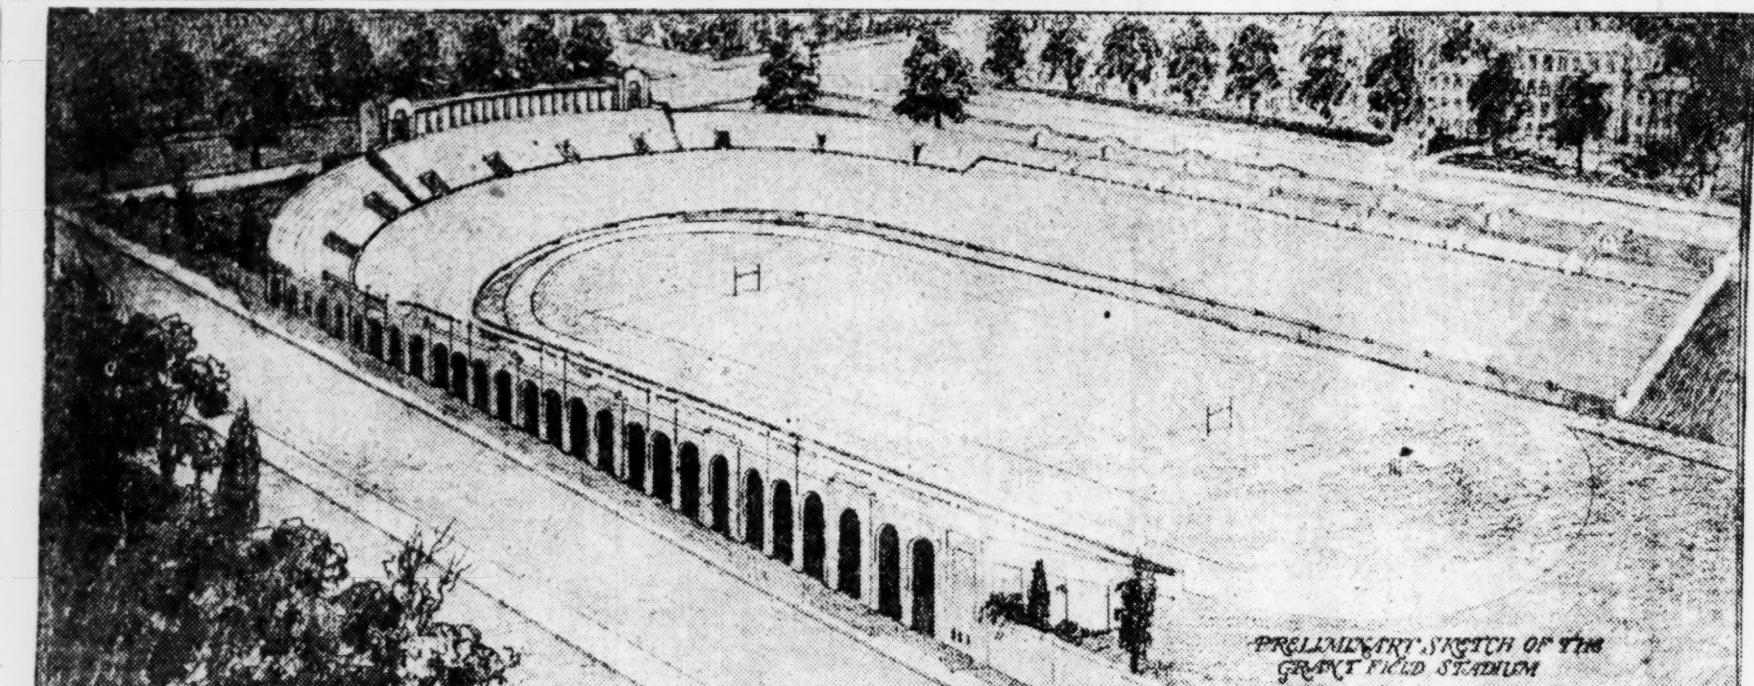

The Green got away to a one-run lead in the first inning, when the Petrel infield bled up behind Barber after he had batted with a hit batsman and a couple of free passes.

Brookman put across the winning run for the Petrels in the tenth when he got his second hit of the day, scored, and took third on a wild ball, and scored on Stanley's single to right field.

Lefty Willis is picked to do the hurling for the Petrels in tomorrow's game with Trunk Porter again doing the backstopping. Ace Edwards will probably be Coach Peters' choice for the Green.

PRELIMINARY SKETCH OF THE GRANT FIELD STADIUM

When Georgia meets Tech on Grant field on the 14th or next November in the south's gridiron classic, you'll be fortunate if you are one of the more than 40,000 people who will be squeezed in here. The elaborate stadium is now in the process of being completed and will be ready for use in the fall. This is how the architects present it.

passes. The Petrel twirler would have come out of the hole alright, as he struck out the next two batters to face him, but Partridge allowed one to score.

The Petrels evened the count in their half when Partridge hit the first for a triple and scored on Harris' error. Cowenford was going strong, and the Petrels failed to put across another run until the sixth, when Duke Terrell slashed a triple to right field and Parrish followed with a run. Duke and Parrish followed with a run, and Eddie Hess followed with the second tally. Adrain Maurer tied the score for the Petrels when he was safe on Hudings' error, and stole second and third. Duke Terrell scored him with a sacrifice fly to right, tying the score.

Brookman put across the winning run for the Petrels in the tenth when he got his second hit of the day, scored, and took third on a wild ball, and scored on Stanley's single to right field.

Lefty Willis is picked to do the hurling for the Petrels in tomorrow's game with Trunk Porter again doing the backstopping. Ace Edwards will probably be Coach Peters' choice for the Green.

The Rivals.

(Atlanta Theater)

Playgoers are promised a treat at the Atlanta theater in the appearance on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week with matinee and Saturday, at 8 P.M., all the regular attractions.

Richard Brinsford Sheridan's immortal comedy, "The Rivals," which will be presented under the management of George C. Tyler and Hugo Ford. Not since 1896 has "The Rivals" been played on tour, and playgoers may be surprised to learn that it is a more comical comedy than that which has been enabled to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the original production of the play. In every city it has visited, "The Rivals" has been playing to capacity houses. In the company besides Mrs. Leslie and Captain Officer, Mrs. A. Wise, James T. Powers, Lola Fisher, Lotus Robb, Marie Carroll, Kenneth Thomson, Fred Erie, Gerald Rogers, George Tawdy and Herbert Belmonte. Seats are now on sale at the Atlanta theater box office and at the "Ask Mr. Foster" service at M. Rich & Bros. Co. store.

Musical Comedy.

(On Friday Night Frolic)

S. Tutt Whittier and J. Homer Tatt will present their bluest musical comedy success to Eighty-One theater this week, where it will be presented at a special "Midnight Frolic" performance for white people only at 11 o'clock Friday night. The title of the show is "White Malinda" and is unique among all musical comedies because it is a negro story with negro songs and a negro cast.

It is a full-sized musical comedy, with a chorus of sixteen, soloists, and a number of expert solo artists in the cast. Tutt and Whittier's greatest tenor of negro comedians on the stage. The orchestra has been augmented for the production and has mastered the original musical score to perfection. Tickets for the frolic are on sale at the box office and at Chess' Place at Five Points.

Famous Dog Star.

(At the Rialto)

Any picture in which Rin Tin Tin, the famous Warner dog star appears, lights up delight, but "The Light-ning by the Sea," which opened at the Rialto theater Monday for a week's run, proved a rare pleasure because of Louise Fazenda, the popular comedienne of the movies, who plays the leading female role.

Rin Tin Tin and Miss Fazenda are the pivot around which the whole action plot revolves from the majestic drama of the sea, against which the story is set, to the bitter struggle between revenue officers and an unscrupulous band of bootleggers, operating along the coast that is lit up at night by the lighthouse that thwarts their evil plans.

"Buster" Grahame, Matthew Bett, Donald Cromwell, and Charles Hill Mailes support Rin Tin Tin and Louise Fazenda in this screen version of Owen Davis' stage success, a superb comedy and music add to the program.

Colleen Moore.

(At the Metropolitan)

All the charm that marked Ziegfeld's stage production of "Sally" is caught and enhanced in First National's screen version of the same play, with Colleen Moore in the title role.

"Sally" opened yesterday at the Metropolitan theater. It is a colorful and delightful story, beautifully photographed and "staged," and the direction of Alfred E. Green is worthy of Colleen Moore's role of the toroan little drolly in the ordinance, who through sheer force of her own character rises to the fame of a great dancer, affords the star wide opportunities for the exercise of her talents.

AMUSEMENTS

"Sackcloth and Scarlet"

(At the Howard)

Alice Terry, long recognized as one of the most beautiful women in motion pictures, enjoyed her first opportunity of wearing lavish modern gowns in her first Paramount picture, "Sackcloth and Scarlet," which opened at the Howard this week. Miss Terry has been beautifully gowned in many pictures but in such instances the gowns were of period design. But in this recent picture her modern gowns are wonderful, but her human story is developed in "Sackcloth and Scarlet," one of the girlie pictures of the year. Joan and Polly Leesey, who have just something in common—unusual beauty, Joan kicks over the traces and goes west to search for adventure and engages in a brief love affair with a hotel guide. She returns to New York.

Fifth District Optimistic Over Trade Conditions

Encouraging Reports Also Received From Local District

Rising to the point of seasonal average, the trade throughout the fifth federal reserve district has led business leaders to profess a high degree of optimism with regard to prospects for spring, summer and autumn, according to the monthly reports of business and agricultural conditions of the Federal Reserve bank of Richmond, released Monday.

Reports from the Constitution's correspondents during the past week show that conditions such as those existing in the fifth district will be found in the sixth district, the sixth district of which Atlanta is included.

With a complete change in the weather during the second month of the year, spring activity opened promptly in the fifth district. Construction reports of member banks in leading cities showed a growth in business, while a result of increased agricultural and business activities and borrowing at the reserve bank also rose during February and March, it is said.

Time Deposits Up

There was the usual decline in demand deposits in member banks for the season, but time deposits increased in both member and non-member banks, it is said, reflecting the economic well-being of the business public. Deposits to individual accounts were larger during the four weeks ending March 11, 1925, than during either the corresponding period ending February 11 or March 12 last year.

According to the report, there was a decline in business failures of 5.5 per cent in number, although liabilities involved were 6.8 per cent larger during the 1925 month.

Labor is employed for this season, and prospects for full-time work a little later are unusually good," it was stated.

Textile mills were said to be operating on an approximate full-time schedule, and although orders for future delivery were not large, a sizeable volume of orders for prompt shipment are being received. Cotton prices moved upward during the past four or five weeks, and consumption and export figures continued larger.

Gum prices were realized on tobacco during February, considering the quality of the tobacco offered, it was stated. Farming generally is further advanced this spring than usual, and agricultural prospects are said to be brighter than in the previous week.

Building operations, as indicated by permits issued for new construction, broke all previous February records during the month this year, it was stated. February building, 1924, and wholesale trade was about up to seasonal expectations in nearly all lines reported upon."

Mrs. Cosgrave To Lecture This Evening at Habersham Hall

Mrs. John O'Hara Cosgrave, of New York, will speak this evening at Habersham hall, on East Fifteenth street, the subject of her lecture to be "The Conflict of the Generations."

She arrived in Atlanta on Monday and was honor guest at an informal luncheon given at the Piedmont Driving club at which a small group of the alumnae of the Finch school, of which she is founder and principal, were invited to meet the distinguished visitor.

An invitation to this lecture is extended to those who are interested on the subject of modern youth, and men, as well as women and girls, cordially invited to be present. There will be no admission charge.

Mrs. Cosgrave is a graduate in law from Columbia university, a member of the New York state bar, author of "A Garden Book for Beginners by a Beginner," which has been published serially in "Good House Keeping," and in book form by Doran, and also author of a book "Mothers and Daughters," published by Doran. She is the wife of the Sunday editor of the New York World.

Mrs. Chase To Read Memorial Resolutions.

Mrs. Frances Brown Chase will leave today for Columbus, Ga., to attend the state D. A. R. conference to participate in the memorial exercises. As chairman of resolutions for the late Mrs. Paul B. Trammell, of Dalton, Ga., state first vice regent, Mrs. Chase will read resolutions of sorrow for the state D. A. R. Mrs. F. M. Dunaway, of Conyers, Ga., state chairman of memorial, will arrange an impressive memorial service for the daughters who have died during the past year.

Woman's Auxiliary To Meet Wednesday.

The woman's auxiliary of Wesley Memorial church will hold a very important meeting on Wednesday morning, April 1, at 10:30 o'clock at the church.

An election of officers is to take place and it is desired that each church be fully represented.

Woman's Board To Meet Friday.

The executive board of Woman's Missionary Union auxiliary to Atlanta association will hold an all day business meeting at Capitol Avenue Baptist church, on Friday, April 3.

The session will begin promptly at 11 o'clock and all members of the local auxiliary are invited. The meeting will be held in the W. M. U. room of the Sunday school building, Entrance on Georgia avenue. Take Capitol or Georgia avenue car and get off at the church.

School Children in "Mother Goose Land."

"Mother Goose Land" was presented in a very attractive manner at the Ponce de Leon school on Friday night by the first grade.

Elizabeth Belcher opened with a recitation, followed by a dance by Margaret Everhart.

The mother in "Mother Goose Land" was portrayed by Mrs. M. E. Ansheley, and the child by Elizabeth Belcher.

The two older children were Tommy Hudson and Lannie Endow; Eleanor Oetzen played the part of Mother Goose. The beautiful little fairy was Martha Herschel. Miss Muffet was played by Sheepie Davis; Little Miss Mary by Miriam Cartledge; Jack Horner by Clifford Peacock, and Jill by Lucile Branci.

Jack was represented by Walter Herschel, Bo Peep by Sarah Taylor, Little Boy Blue by Eleanor Bowen, Simon by Charles Mullens, the Pied Piper by Eugene Maxwell, Bobbie Gentry by Anna Avery, and Baby Bunting by Virginia Browne.

Several enjoyable musical numbers were given by Miss Elizabeth Law-

Mrs. Perkins Will Honor School Girls

Mrs. T. C. Perkins will entertain at a bridge-tea this afternoon at her home, on Sheridan road, in honor of her daughter, Miss Florence Perkins, who is at home for the spring holidays, from Agnes Scott college, and her guests, Miss Catherine Gault, of Chicago, Ill., and Miss Leoma Cole, of Durham, N. C.

The guests will include: Ella Smith, Marcia Green, Josephine Walker, Ellen Walker, Margaret Keiley, Louise Bennett, Mary Ben Wright, Frances Anis, Elizabeth Little, Edythe Carpenter, Edythe Coleman, Aramanda Edwards, Mary Palmer Caldwell, Hilda McConnell, La Fonda Dancey, Catherine Grather, Roberta Winter, Nan Lingle, Mary Freeman, Caroline Essig, Elizabeth Cleatham, Louise Smith, Helen Barnett and Mrs. Clyde King, Jr.

renee and Miss Marie Lawrence on their mandolin and guitars. The first grade orchestra also played many pretty melodies known and loved by the children.

A large sum was realized to be used for equipment for the first grade room.

P.T.A. Meeting To Be Held Friday.

A meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of Ella W. Smillie school will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the school. All friends and patrons of the school are invited.

Church P.T.A. To Meet Wednesday.

The Westminster Church Parent Teacher association will meet Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church.

A full attendance is urged.

Antique Silver on Display at Rich's.

Exhibition of antique Georgian silver, collected by Braund Lemon & Sons, and being shown in Atlanta at Rich's all this week will be of interest to art lovers.

Miss Cecil Gordon is in charge and assisted by Miss Helen Adams and Miss Myrtle Moore.

The room contains many rare museum pieces shown this year which will delight the true lover of antiques, among them a Queen Anne bowl made in the year 1711. A set of six matched Queen Anne dessert spoons with trifid handles, which range in date from 1700 to 1750, and which carries the Lascelles crest, also shown. The former ancestors of these spoons were undoubtedly the ancestors of Viscount Lascelles who married the Princess Mary, daughter of the reigning sovereign of Great Britain.

An old goldsmith's letter bears a crest which establishes the fact that its former owner was Thackeray, the great English writer. Another old serving bears the coat of arms of Viscount Powersford. An insignia of the Illustrous Order of St. Patrick is displayed on the crest of the letter.

W. M. Striplin, Mrs. Phillip Randall, George Methuen, Robert Garrard, William Fountain, Matthew West and Anne Bateman is included in this collection of 5,000 pieces.

This collection will be exhibited from 9 to 5:30 o'clock until April 9.

Joseph Habersham Board To Meet.

The board of management of Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., will hold its regular meeting Wednesday morning, April 1, at 10 o'clock at the chapter house.

Members are urged to present.

Peachtree Hills Club Will Hold Meeting.

The Peachtree Hills Woman's club will hold the next regular meeting Wednesday, April 1, at the home of Mrs. Frank R. Campbell, 37 William avenue. Mrs. J. T. Terrell will be co-hostess with Mrs. Campbell.

COLOR CUT-OUTS Three Spinners

An Amazing New Brush That Will Not Remove Permanent Wave or Curl

Stop buying expensive shampoos, lotions to clean your scalp, medications to remove dandruff. Specialists have long told you that unless your scalp is regularly stimulated by massage, are taking soap, failing hair grows.

The round, smooth handles of the San Detach Brush gently massage yet thoroughly clean the scalp. It takes out all dirt and dandruff, leaving a clean, healthy scalp; your hair grows beautifully, naturally. All this while removing your hair-no fuss, no bother.

The guests included Mae Ashby, Jr., Helen Redding, Calhoun Witham, Laura Lee Richardson, Billy Full, Helen Jones, Florence Jones, Elmer Tuttle, Jr., Edward Richardson, Jr., Eddie Richardson and Alonso Richardson.

Popular Visitors Are Honored at Parties.

Mrs. Leaver Richardson was honored Monday afternoon at her home on Peachtree street at a lovely luncheon in honor of the third birthday of her young daughter, Virginia Richardson.

Mrs. Candler Honors Miss Tebeaut.

Mrs. William Candler gave a luncheon shower in honor of her sister, Miss Oda Tebeaut, a bride-elect of next week, at the Atlanta Biltmore Monday. The handsome reception room where the guests were received was decked out in quantities of bright spring flowers.

Mrs. Candler wore a tan ensemble suit of tan boucle silk trimmed in bands of light fox fur, and with this she wore a becoming hat in shades of tan and brown.

Miss Tebeaut also wore an ensemble suit, the coat being of asles of tan boucle silk, the skirt of tan fox fur, the gown of georgic crepe and falle silk, tones of roses and sandal wood. Her hat was of hairs and little roses in these shades. She wore a corsage bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. D. B. Tebeaut, mother of the bride-elect, wore a dark black netted ensemble in cut steel.

Little Miss Rena Candler wore a becoming frock of brown crepe with hand made collar and cuffs of real lace, and her becoming hat was also brown.

Many beautiful gifts were given the bride-elect. The hostess presented her sister as Italian cut work luncheon set with her monogram embroidered on cloth and serviettes. Little Miss Rena Candler, and William Candler, Jr., gave their aunt a chenille set, and the other gifts varied in beauty.

Breakfast. The hostess presented her sister as Italian cut work luncheon set with her monogram embroidered on cloth and serviettes. Little Miss Rena Candler, and William Candler, Jr., gave their aunt a chenille set, and the other gifts varied in beauty.

Luncheon was served in the large dining room. The table was covered with an exquisite lace and cut-work cloth, and the centerpiece was a silver basket of Dresden colored flowers.

The place cards were daintily hand-painted bride and groom standing over a wedding bell.

The guests included 21 close friends of the guest of honor.

Charming Visitors Inspire Many Elegant Functions

Bridge-teas and luncheons will feature the social calendar today, and will honor charming spring visitors, whose presence in society inspires innumerable parties.

Mrs. Charles Craddock, of Lynchburg, Va., will be central figure at a luncheon to be given by Mrs. Michael Hoke, and a bridge-tea at which Mrs. A. D. Adair will entertain at her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Lee Aschare will entertain at tea at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue in honor of Miss Etha Louise Buchanan, associate director of the Girl Reserve department of the national board of the Y. W. C. A.

The members of the Shorter College club will entertain at a tea at the home of the president, Mrs. Claude Shewmake, 600 West Peachtree street, from 4 to 5 o'clock. Dr. W. D. Flurry, newly-elected president of the college, will come down from Rome, and will be a distinguished guest of the occasion, and invited to meet him are the members of the Shorter club, and senior classes of Washington seminary, Girls' High school, Woodberry school, North Avenue and Decatur High.

Miss Lucy Harper will give a bridge-tea in honor of Miss Nell Lee, of Tampa, Fla., a lovely visitor.

Mrs. C. Quigley will be hostess at a bridge-tea at the Brookhaven Country club.

Distinguished Visitor & Postpones Visit.

Mrs. John D. Little received a cablegram on Monday from Lady Curzon, from the Bahamas Islands, stating that the sudden bereavement in her family would postpone her arrival in Atlanta for grand opera. She made every plan for her visit to Mr. and Mrs. Little in April and financial affairs had been arranged in compliment to this distinguished English peeress and her daughter.

Mrs. Berkely Weds Dr. Ros Perrier.

Mrs. M. D. Eady, of 491 North Boulevard, announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Berkely, to Dr. Ros Perrier, which was solemnized at the home of the bride, Saturday evening, March 28. Rev. William J. DeBardeleben officiated.

The bride and groom are at the Kimball house, where they will be at home to their many friends.

Habersham Hall Tea Parties.

Habersham hall will be very gay and beautiful with its decorations of spring flowers and its many tables of attractive women playing bridge and enjoying informal tea parties on Wednesday afternoon, April 1.

Mrs. W. H. Durden will entertain at a large party in honor of her guest, William Field Hackett, of New York.

Mrs. J. C. Gentry will entertain at an informal tea the following week:

Mrs. Charles P. Byrd, Mrs. Lanier Shields, Mrs. Constance Clarke, Mrs. Henry L. Collier, Mrs. C. H. Johnson, Mrs. Linton Hopkins, Mrs. William L. Percy, Mrs. Hugh Powell, Mrs. E. E. Sted, Mrs. William P. Thornton, Mrs. C. M. Thornton, Mrs. Harry Schlessinger, Mrs. Frank Phillips, Mrs. Marion Jones, Mrs. M. H. Goff, Mrs. Frank Golden, Miss Anna Sue, Miss Helen Prescott, and Miss Sue S. Hook.

Mrs. Walter Scott Coleman, regent of the Habersham chapter, Mrs. J. A. Gunn, Mrs. Frances E. Brownell and Mrs. Patrick Bryan are attending the tea party on Wednesday afternoon, April 1, relieving Mrs. J. C. Gentry, who will assume the house chairmanship May 1 upon her return from Washington and New York.

Mrs. Frank Dennis, of Colorado Springs, Colo., is receiving a cordial welcome from her friends here as the guest of Mrs. John Rice at her home on Westminster drive. Mrs. Dennis was formerly Miss Corday Rice, of Atlanta.

Mrs. J. M. High was hostess at a tea given Monday at her home on Fifteenth street, complimenting Mrs. Dennis. A small group of intimate friends were invited to meet the honor guest.

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found, each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

Running Across.
Word 1. In a picture.
Word 4. A small roadside hotel.
Word 5. A kind of tree.
Word 6. Each and all.

Running Down.
Word 1. A fruit.
Word 2. To refuse to take notice of.
Word 3. A country of the old world.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Stuffing for Veal.

The stuffing for roast veal should be very highly seasoned as veal is the most tasteless of all meats and the stuffing adds greatly to the dish.

In These Days of Cold.

In cold weather when sheets, pillow slips, etc., are laundered and then cut into 12-inch squares, and placed in a pile in the linen closet. Then when a member of the family is suffering with a cold these clean squares are used instead of handkerchiefs. They are burned when soiled and save a disagreeable job for the laundress and spreading of the cold through the house.

Pass It Along.

Blue, green and yellow are all good colors for kitchen decorations.

Powdered cloves sprinkled about the pantry shelves drives away ants.

The egg beater is splendid for turning and removing doughnuts from the hot fat.

Soak the very soiled clothing in borax water. It will loosen the dirt without hurting the material.

Send 12 cents in silver or stamps for

Ribbed HAIR looks wonderful with the tiny tin of Golden Glint Shampoo.—(advt.)

The SOCIETY MACHINE

by EDITH BRAUN

former governess and companion to Mrs. Otto H. Kahn

HAM-AND-HASH HOUSE BECOMES THE THING.

(Copyright, 1925, in U. S., Canada, Great Britain and South America by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

Two or three years ago the fad started in New York society to go from the theater and opera, and sometimes from a dance, to a low priced restaurant on West 50th street, where food is served on marble-topped tables, and there are signs around waiving responsibility for stolen hats and coats.

Here, in their resplendent gowns, their jewels and evening clothes, the "host folk" enjoy a ham and egg sandwich with the same gusto that is exhibited by the taxi driver at the next table.

This fad caught on in other towns.

CHAPTER 31.

FADS ARE BAD FORM NOW.

However, Soo-a-Hundred Sheets is still far from being a fad.

American society, I am told, once was freakishly fastidious. Exotic parties were given, and society leaders appeared on the streets with monkeys in their arms. Now there is a uniformity and a striving to be inconspicuous that means death to fads.

However, the society women does indulge today in a fad that is uniform without being conspicuous-colored underthings. The popular color is rose, though red is gaining in favor—and they tell me the shade of red is that made famous by firemen. The material is the finest of silk or crepe, needful to say, and the monograms on stationery. The design is worked in with performances and embossings, all hand done, and I know a young woman who paid $55 for one hundred sheets.

Spanish German letters are fashionable for monograms; but most of the dignified, settled members of society, avoid novelties in monograms, perhaps because such novelties are ostentations, and ostentation today is anathema.

This same modesty has done away with the gowns on the box and the cockade and one sees fewer and fewer signs on limousine doors.

The same general cause may have made it impossible to introduce names to American society, though I expected that the seat case, which is quite the thing at races and fashionable outdoor gatherings in England, would be successfully launched here, as utility is so attractive in America; but vigorous efforts to introduce this commodity have failed.

In England, however, it was short. Mah Jongg and pachinko might come under the head of fads, although they are past the innovation stage.

Five years ago most society women went in for Greek dancing, when the fashion for slimness first made weight reduction imperative. In little silk gowns they gamboled away their girls but not for long. It was short.

And two or three years ago they went for fortune telling. Not that many gypsies had then palms crossed with gold along Fifth Avenue. Palmistry and clairvoyance were practiced by the society women themselves. The ouija board industry.

Today there are no such pictures-fads, though colorful novelties always are welcomed.

The European regards youthful marriages among American society as a sort of fad. Leisurely in love and leisurely in marriage is the fashion. There are multiple divorce, but one cannot regard energy and impulsiveness as fads.

As for sports, society is fond of all decorative sports, but it prefers those that a woman may see or play with pleasure—a man's. And sports give a great opportunity for special attire.

Tomorrow—Jewels and Art.

WILL TRY LAWRENCE IN TEXAS FOR MURDER

Phoenix, Ariz., March 30.—"Baby" Lawrence of Muskogee, Okla., will be tried at Fort Worth, Texas, on a charge of murdering Deputy Sheriff Joe Morgan, of Muskogee, and will not be tried here on a charge of murdering Pottawatomie Haze Burch, of this city, it was announced yesterday.

Attorney La Prade received word that a deputy sheriff from Fort Worth had started for Phoenix armed with extradition papers to return Lawrence to that city.

THE GUMPS—THE LOVEBIRD COOS

Unlike Any Story You Have Ever Read

The Lost World

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

SYNOPSIS.

Malone, a young London newspaper reporter, selected by the girl he loves because he has "true deeds to his credit," goes in search of adventure. An appeal to his editor, Mr. Jenkins, to let him go, is refused, so he begins to plan his own adventure. Professor Challenger, a scientist who has recently returned from a military expedition to North America with an amazing story of adventure which no one believes. Angered, Challenger, who since refused to talk to Malone, obtains an audience with him, but is unceremoniously sent away. Challenger disappears. A week later, he returns, alone, refuses to press a charge against him. Challenger is sufficiently mystified to return home again. After extracting a promise that nothing he tells him will be reported, Challenger disappears again. He returns, however, and reveals himself among the possessions of an American artist and explorer, Maple White, whom he had come upon during his expedition, dead from exhaustion and starvation. Malone examines some of the drawings, finding nothing unusual.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

I was still unable to sympathize. It was a full-page sketch of a landscape roughly tinted in color—the kind of painting which an open-air artist takes as a guide to a future more elaborate effort. There was a pale-green foreground of feathered vegetation, which sloped upward and ended in a line of cliffs dark red in color, and curiously ribbed like some crystalline formations which I have seen. They extended in an unbroken line, right across the background. At one point was an isolated pyramidal rock, crowned by a great tree, which appeared to be separated by a cliff from the main crag. Behind it all, a blue tropical sky. A thin green line of vegetation fringed the summit of the ruddy cliff.

"Well?" he asked.

"It is no doubt a curious formation," said I, "but I am not geologist enough to say that it is wonderful."

"Wonderful!" he repeated. "It is unique. It is incredible. No one in earth has ever dreamed of such a possibility. Now the next."

I turned it over, and gave an exclamation of surprise. There was a full-page picture of the most extraordinary creature that I had ever seen, was the wild dream of an opium smoker, a vision of delirium. The head was like that of a fowl, the body that of a bloated lizard, the tail was furnished with upward turned spikes, and the curved back was edged with a high serrated fringe, which looked like a dozen cocks' tails placed behind each other. In front of this creature was an absurd hump, or dwarf, in human form, who stood staring at it.

"Well, what do you think of that?" cried the professor, rubbing his hands with an air of triumph.

"It is monstrous—grotesque."

"But what made him draw such an animal?"

"Trade gin, I should think."

"Oh, that's the best explanation you can give, is it?"

"Well, sir, what is yours?"

"The obvious one that the creature exists. That is actually sketched from life."

I should have laughed only that I had a vision of our doing another Catherine-wheel down the passage.

"No doubt," said I, "no doubt," as one humors an imbecile. "I confess, however," I added, "that this tiny human figure puzzles me. If it were an Indian we could set it down as evidence of some pigmy race in America, but it appears to be a European in a sun-hat."

The professor snorted like an angry buffalo. "You really touch the limit," said he. "You enlarge my view of the possible. Cerebral paresis! Mental inertia! Wonderful!"

He was too absurd to make me angry. Indeed, it was a waste of energy, for if you were going to be angry with this man you would be angry all the time. I contented myself with smiling weakly. "It struck me that the man was small," said I.

"Look here," he cried, leaning forward and dabbing a great hairy usage of a finger on to the picture. "You see that plant behind the animal; I suppose you thought it was a dandelion or a Brussels sprout? Well, it is a vegetable ivory plant, and they run to about fifty or sixty feet. Don't you see that the man is put in for a purpose. He couldn't really have stood in front of that brute and lived to draw it. I sketched him in to give a scale of heights. He was, we will say, over five feet high. The tree is ten times bigger, which is what one would expect."

"Good heavens!" I cried. "Then you think the beast was—Why, Charging Cross station would hardly make a kennel for such a brute!"

"Apart from exaggeration, he is certainly a well-grown specimen," said the professor, complacently.

"But," I cried, "surely the whole experience of the human race is not to be set aside on account of a single sketch"—I had turned over the leaves and ascertained that there was nothing more in the book—a single sketch by a wandering American artist who may have done it under hashish, or in the delirium of fever, or simply in order to gratify a freakish imagination. You can't, as a man of science, defend such a position as that."

For answer the professor took a book down from a shelf.

"This is an excellent monograph by my gifted friend, Ray Lankester," he said. "There is an illustration here which would interest you. Ah, yes, here it is! The inscription beneath it runs: 'Probable appearance in life of the Jurassic Dinosaur Stegosaurus. The hind leg alone is twice as tall as a full-grown man.' Well, what do you make of that?"

He handed me the open book. I started as I looked at the picture. In this reconstructed animal of a dead world there was certainly a very great resemblance to the sketch of the unknown artist.

"That is certainly remarkable," said I.

"But you won't admit that it is final?"

"Surely it might be a coincidence, or this American may have seen a picture of this kind and carried it in his memory. It would be likely to recur to a man in a delirium."

"Very good," said the professor, indulgently; "we leave it at that. We will now ask you to look at this bone." He handed over the bone which he had already described as part of the dead man's possessions. It was about six inches long, and thicker than my thumb, with some indications of dried cartilage at one end of it.

"To what known creature does that bone belong?" asked the professor.

I examined it with care and tried to recall some half-forgotten knowledge.

"It might be a very thick human collar-bone," I said.

My companion waved his hand in contemptuous depreciation.

"The human collar-bone is curved. This is straight. There is a groove upon its surface showing that a great tendon played across it, which could not be the case with a clavicle."

"Then I must confess that I don't know what it is."

"You need not be ashamed to expose your ignorance, for I don't suppose the whole South Kensington staff could give a name to it." He took a little bone the size of a bean out of a pill-box. "So far as I am a judge this human bone is the analogue of the one which you hold in your hand. That will give you some idea of the size of the creature. You will observe from the cartilage that this is no fossil specimen, but recent. What do you say to that?"

"Surely in an elephant?"

He winced as if in pain.

"Don't! Don't talk of elephants in South America. Even in these days of board schools—"

"Well," I interrupted, "any large South American animal—a tapir, for example?"

"You may take it, young man, that I am versed in the elements of my business. This is not a conceivable bone either of a tapir or of any other creature known to zoology. It belongs to a very large, very strong, and, by all analogy, a very fierce animal which exists upon the face of the earth, but has not yet come under the notice of science. You are still unconvinced?"

"I am at least deeply interested."

"Then your case is not hopeless. I feel that there is reason lurking in you somewhere, so we will patiently grope round for it."

"We will now leave the dead American and proceed with my narrative. You can imagine that I could hardly come away from the Amazon without probing deeper into the matter. There were indications as to the direction from which the dead traveler had come. Indian legends would alone have been my guide, for I found that rumors of a strange and were common among all the riverine tribes. You have heard, no doubt, of Caraparu?"

"Never."

"Carapuri is the spirit of the woods, something terrible, something malevolent, something to be avoided. None can describe its shape or nature, but it is a word of terror along the Amazon. Now all tribes agree as to the direction in which Carapuri lives. It was the same direction from which the American had come. Something terrible lay that way. It was my business to find out what it was."

MITCHELL IS ASSIGNED TO EIGHTH CORPS AREA

Washington, March 30.—Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, will be assigned on April 26 as air-service officer of the eighth corps area with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex.

Secretary Weeks announced today the orders for General Mitchell's transfer, effective upon the expiration of his present tour of duty. The war secretary said the assignment had been made for two reasons: The eighth corps area is greater than any other service activation than any other area and General Mitchell has seniority of service.

On assuming his new duties, General Mitchell's rank will revert to that of colonel.

General Mitchell will be assigned to the staff of Major General Hinckley, commanding the eighth corps, which includes Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado, and has jurisdiction over Mexican border patrols.

While General Mitchell is known to have preferred assignment as an executive officer attached to the staff of Major General Hale, commanding the sixth corps area with headquarters at Chicago, he failed to make any specific request.

Primer Durriot today gave instructions to the political department of the foreign office to draft a note to that effect.

The document is calculated to draw from the Berlin government a reply that will enable the allies to decide whether the German offer for a security pact is likely to form a basis for future negotiations.

The note will stand forth in substance that the formal renunciation of Alsace-Lorraine by Germany would be an insufficient guarantee of security.

French officials suspect that Germany may be offering this renunciation had hopes of buying off France and obtaining a free hand to deal with Germany's eastern and southern neighbors.

The French reply will make it clear that France considers herself bound to see that the frontiers of Poland and Czechoslovakia as well as her own are made safe.
